Showcase your ICT solutions for TELEMEDICINE AND HEALTHCARE MANAGEMENT at CeBIT TeleHealth 2009

OPERATING SUCCESSFULLY IN THE HEALTHCARE SECTOR

→ The medical and healthcare sectors are becoming increasingly deregulated around the world. With market liberalization and harmonization of standards come new business opportunities for international vendors and solutions providers. At the same time demographic change and the need to streamline costs are posing new challenges for the healthcare market. CeBIT recognizes and mirrors this growth market and documents the complete spectrum of ICT use in the healthcare sector. A 38% increase in attendees to this segment of CeBIT is testimony to the importance of IT in medicine and will make it one of the headline topics at the show in 2009.

CeBIT—THE WORLD'S NO. 1 DIGITAL MARKETPLACE

→ It's the one place on earth offering endless possibilities to exploit the potential for new business. As the flagship event for the ICT industry, CeBIT is the leading marketplace for digital solutions, trends and innovation—and the largest convention on ICT-related topics and issues.

Key Figures from CeBIT 2008

Attendees:	495,000 from 96 countries
Press:	7,000 from 72 countries
Exhibitors:	5,845 from 77 countries

Regardless of your goals—increasing sales, establishing distribution, networking, generating media exposure or just evaluating your competition—CeBIT provides you the ideal environment to achieve them.

In addition to offering raw space and “Fair Package” exhibit options, Hannover Fairs USA hosts pavilions that make exhibiting even easier. These group stands are a favorite among international exhibitors and small and medium sized companies as well as first-time exhibitors. The eHealth Exchange is your full service exhibit solution at TeleHealth 2009.
