New service
for journalists

Quick & easy access

No registration required

Welcome to the Online Image Database brought to you by Deutsche Messe AG to help you spice up your coverage of our events.

A huge variety of images is available for downloading. Not only is this service free of charge, but you don't even need to be registered to use it.

Getting your job done is now that much easier!

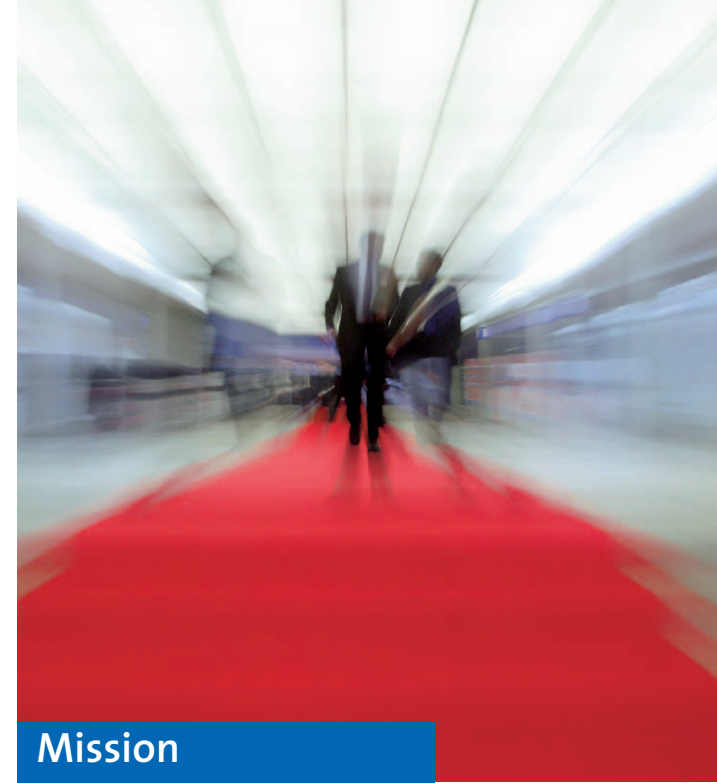

Quality images just a click away

Here's how it works

You can access the database via the Deutsche Messe AG company homepage at www.messe.de/imagedatabase or the dedicated DOMOTEX website at www.domotex.de/imagedatabase (other links soon to be activated for CeBIT and HANNOVER MESSE 2006).

Whatever image you need for your coverage, you are sure to find it here – in perfect quality, of course.

Mission accomplished!

In no time at all

Just select the images you need and save them in your Image Library. Then download them to your PC as a ZIP archive and enjoy having professional, print-ready material at your fingertips!

Giving your readership a close look at the show has never been easier.

What's more – as a registered online user, your library images remain stored for you so you can view or download them at any time, from any Deutsche Messe AG website.
