8th International trade fair for Materials Handling/ Intralogistics, Storage Systems, Warehousing and Logistic Services

CeMAT INDIA 2014 is the window for latest trends and technologies in the above industries, which is sure to attract decision makers from diverse user industries. "Logistics Infrastructure Pavilion" aims to bring focus on the companies engaged in planning, designing and setting up the warehousing and logistics park facilities as well as the owners and operators of such facilities to showcase their products and services to the diverse user industries.

Make the Connection - Why exhibit in INDIA

The Materials Handling Industry in India is still at an early stage with scope for immense development with a growth at a CAGR of 15,62% over the period 2011-2015. Also, the Indian logistics sector is expected to grow annually at the rate of 8-10% till 2015. Answering on this development, the Delhi-Mumbai Industrial Corridor - an infrastructure project of USD90 billion - will incorporate nine mega industrial zones of about 200-250 sq. km., high speed freight line, three ports, and six air ports; a six-lane intersection-free expressway connecting the country's political and financial capitals and a 4000 MW power plant.

INDIA'S most significant growth drivers:

- The retail industry has expanded by 10.6% between 2010 and 2012 and is expected to increase to US$ 750-850 billion by 2015.
- Food and Grocery is the largest category within the retail sector with 60% share followed by
- Apparel and Mobile segment
- Online retail in India is projected to grow to US$ 76 billion by 2021, accounting for over 5% of the Indian retail industry
- The total market value of Indian cold chain industry is expected to reach Rs. 64,000 crore by end by 2017

WIN INDIA: Four trade shows – an unbeatable advantage

Together, the trade shows form a sought-after business-to-business platform with unique synergy effects for exhibitors and visitors alike. A large number of exhibitors come from overseas and benefit from visitors representing a wide variety of key industries for manufacturing and logistics.
